The board members who have supervised the building of the new plant are Robert Murphy, Clarence Wessenberg and Ralph Larsen.

Sunday afternoon, March 11, the Mothers' club sponsored an open house featuring a silver tea, which was very well attended. Mrs. Geuther's name was submitted by the Illinois Vocational Homemaking Teachers association at the request of the workshop chairman for the program who had asked that the names of leaders who could make the best contributions to the thoughtful consideration and criticism called for by the activities of the workshop be suggested by each department.

TWO FIRES AT MOKENA

The Mokena fire department answered two calls this week. The first one was Monday morning about 7:30 to the farm home of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Yunker. Mr. Yunker noticed heavy smoke coming out of the top of his chicken brooder. He and his wife at once started using their fire extinguisher, but thought they were not making much headway because of the smoke, and thought of danger among the corn cobs and straw on the brooder floor, and a nearby oil tank.

They called the fire department, who responded quickly, but the Yunkers had made headway in controlling the fire and with the help of the firemen, the fire was put out. The Yunkers lost 75 chickens and it is thought they may lose still more.

The second call was to the home in Woodland Circle, south of Mokena, of Mr. and Mrs. Robert DeForest na.

Mr. and Mrs. DeForest and a helper were applying wall covering on their kitchen walls when Mr. DeForest thought he heard a crackling noise. He at once went to the basement where he saw flames and smoke in a corner. Finding his phone was out of order, by the flames, he hurried by car to Mokena and rang the fire siren. The Mokena fire department came and found a tough fight ahead of them because of much dense smoke.

The heavy beams of the first floor were badly damaged and will have to be all replaced, as well as the electric wiring in the house that had burned. Origin of the fire is unknown. The upstairs rooms were all badly damaged by smoke.

Mr. DeForest is the manufacturer of a mechanical soap, Velva-Keen, which is widely distributed. The damage is placed at about $3,000.00.

WHY I KNOW THERE IS A GOD

A Tinley Park woman was honored Monday when her letter to the Religious Editor of the Herald-American, Chicago, was published that day. The Herald-American published during Lent, in serial form, the book "Why I Know There is a God" by Fulton Oursler. At its conclusion, the newspaper offered to send a check of $25 to a church designated by a reader writing on the same theme as Oursler's book.

Mrs. Ruth McBurney of 17845 Ridgeland avenue, Tinley Park, had her letter accepted and named the Tinley Park Methodist church as recipient for the money gift. We thank the Herald-American Religious Editor for his consent for us to reprint Mrs. McBurney's letter which follows:

The backbone of our family was Grandpa; 220 pounds—6 feet tall, with black wavy hair that time slowly turned to shining silver.

While standing with my three small children looking at Grandpa for the last time on this earth, a year ago this past Christmas, 30 years of life seemed but a fleeting moment—and I understood many things so clearly then when memories all came together and linked themselves into the chain of life that brought me up to this point standing before Grandpa's coffin—I understood why Grandpa was so sure about God.

At 6 years of age—I didn't know what the prayer in Swedish at our dinner table meant, but I could tell that Grandpa knew to whom he was talking; when he talked to God it seemed just the same as when he talked to Mr. Ludvigson, his next door neighbor.

When we walked down the street and people said "Good Morning! Waquist," I was proud because people sounded so respectful toward Grandpa, and I used to think "It's because he's so big and strong—it's because he knows God so well."

It doesn't sound as though Grandpa had much suffering or hardship or trying times, but he did. He witnessed the slow, suffering death of his youngest daughter; and suffered through the mistakes of his youngest son, but he never seemed crushed like other people and I know now it was because he walked side by side with God; and drew his strength from the great faith he had in his Heavenly Father.

And I remembered when he fell ill seven years previously and remained in his bed an invalid those long years—he never asked—as so many do "Why did this happen to me?" I never saw him despondent—angry—unhappy or sour-faced or resentful. "God was preparing a place for him," he said; and "I must be content to wait."

And as June and Patty and little Bill and I stood looking at him—after the church service, these things came before me, and putting them all together, the answer came clear. When that wonderful man, my grandfather, said to his dear wife—my grandmother, "I'll be waiting up there for you Amelia," he and God were already walking hand in hand.

And the answer was plain too, to the question in my mind each time I pray with my little children: They question almost every other phase of learning and growing up but they have never asked me why or to whom we pray: they know from instinct and trust that there is a God, who said "Suffer the little children to come unto Me." It is only when we grow older and learn more of the world that we forget about God.

Watch Out For The "Blind-Spots"

Stopped by Squint Miller's farm the other day and saw a vinegar bottle in his kitchen with an oversized cucumber inside it. The cucumber filled the whole bottle.

"What's a cucumber doing in there?" I asked him. "That's my 'blind-spot' reminder," says Squint. "My grandmother kept one in her kitchen to remind her to take stock of herself now and then."

"I slipped that bottle over the cucumber when it was just starting to grow on the vine," he went on. "And like certain viewpoints, not noticed, it just grew and grew—now it's there to stay."

From where I sit, we could take a cue from Squint and watch for our own "blind-spots" and prejudices before they grow too big to get rid of. We've got to respect our neighbor's right to his preferences...preferences for a certain make of car, a favorite movie star, or a temperate glass of beer after work. We won't be tripped by any blind spots if we keep our eyes—and minds—open!

New York Schools Have Problems TooThe following is an article which appeared in the New York Times.
It describes a situation so much like the one in this area that it should be of interest to school patrons in the townships of Frankfort, Orland, New Lenox and Manhattan."A centralized administration of the public schools of eight communities in the North Westchester (New York) area was proposed yesterday by experts from Columbia University's Teachers college as they completed a four-month survey."They urged construction of a centrally situated high school, coordination of school transportation and adoption of other measures of improve the school programs and afford greater economies in the face of increasing enrollments."The study was made by six teams of researchers under the direction of Dr. Willard S. Elsbree, professor of education, at the request of the eight communities.
The area, which covers 80 square miles and has a combined population of about 17,000, is divided into nine districts and has 2,530 public school pupils."The villages are Bedford, Lew-isboro, Four Corners, Pound Ridge, Goldens Bridge, Bedford Hills, Mount Kisco, and Katonah."Although enrollment already exceeds capacity, the report indicated the student body would increase to 3,595 by 1960."These data, in addition to the discovery of numerous duplications of effort and cost due to a lack of coordination, led the survey workers to propose centralization or consolidation. They said the number of pupils even by 1960 would not be excessive from the standpoint of a single administration, which, they explained, not only would provide numerous curricular advantages, but would also reduce the costs.

"While generally complimenting citizens of the communities on their interest and pride in the schools, the report noted a 'less-than-average' effort to support the schools. While the present needsof the schools are great, the bonded indebtedness at this time is only 10% of the maximum allowedby law. Thus, financial considerations and a centralized authority would permit the construction of a new high school in the neighborhood of Bedford, the report said.This new central high school would accommodate 600 pupils immediately, and 1,000 eventually."The Illinois Junior Chamber of Commerce announced this week that John M. King of Wheaton was elected vice president at the state organization's board meeting at Alton, King, former director of the Chicago Junior Association of Commerce and a vice president of the Wheaton Junior Chamber of Commerce will be one of the two state vice presidents covering northeastern Illinois.The Junior Chamber of Commerce has expanded rapidly in northern Illinois from a group of five local organizations to a point where today it has some 32 organizations within an 80 mile radius of Chicago, King, who has been in charge of extension this past year, announced that 12 new clubs have already been formed this year in the northern end of the state and that a goal of 20 new organizations will be reached.The Junior Chamber of Commerce is a young men's civic organization dedicated to giving young men between the ages of 21 and 36 an opportunity to work in community affairs.Easter Seals Help Crippled ChildrenEaster Seal letters were received by citizens in this area last week from the Will county chapter for Crippled Children. They hope they will receive a good response to those letters by receiving in return money which will pay for the seals sent to them.Each Easter Seal letter contains a sheet of Easter Seals and an inside envelope which is addressed to William R. Wandrey, vice president of the Union National Bank & Trust company of Joliet, who is treasurer for the Will county chapter according to Mr. Harper.

Mr. Harper asked that those persons who did not receive their seals and wish to make a contribution to send it to Mr. Wandrey at the Bank or merely to "Crippled Children," Box 1316, Joliet, Ill.Contributions received from this Easter Seal mailing will be used to assist in creating a direct service program for crippled children in Will county, Mr. Harper asserted.
He also stated that 60 per cent of all funds received remain in the county and will be administered by a Board of Directors of Will County people who serve without pay.Board members in addition to Mr.
Harper are: Art Smith, William Wandrey, Mrs. D. V. Forester, Henry Sebring, Willis Maltby, Mrs.

WEEKA Thubnall Sketch, Alger Hiss, plus his close associates in the State Department, is responsible for the Cold War we have been carrying on for the past five years. During those five years we have spent $100 billion to contain (fence in) Communism; but in spite of our efforts Stalin has reached out during the same five years and grabbed 600,000,000 more people, forcing them into his sphere of influence. He now controls one-third of the people in the world, 900,000-000 people. Has our Cold War been successful?How could one man, plus his close associates in the State Department, accomplish so much to advance the cause of Communism in so short a time? The following is the answer to this question:1. Alger Hiss was given the job of drafting the Bretton Woods Monetary Program under which Uncle Sam was required to furnish the billions that went into the International Bank and the World Monetary Fund to underwrite the bankrupt currencies of European nations.2. Alger Hiss was the temporary Chairman at the San Francisco Peace Conference and drafted the major part of the United Nations Charter.3. Alger Hiss was President Roosevelt's chief advisor at the Yalta Conference, when all of Eastern Europe and a great part of Asia was turned over to Stalin and the Communists.One Alger Hiss on the inside can do more damage than one hundred million enemies on the outside.Is There a Manpower Shortage?
During World War II we had 54 million people employed, many of them women, and 12 million men in our armed forces. At that time our total population over 14 years of age and able to work was 105 million. This was at the peak of our war mobilization program. Today we have 61 million people em-ployed and 2½ million men in our armed forces out of a total population of 111 million over 14 years of age and able to work. Is there a manpower shortage or is it simply a question of making proper use of the manpower we have?If proper use of manpower is our problem, why not remove from the public through 1,000,000 tax-eating federal employees that are marking time in a vast bureaucracy of government agencies and commissions? Senator Byrd says we can cut our federal payroll of 2,100,000 civilian employees almost in half.
By trimming out the dead timber now scattered all through our bureaucratic forest we will get better work done and more work done. This writer is in full agreement with Senator Byrd. However, we are now adding 1000 per day, or 30,000 per month to our federal civilian payroll.We should make proper use of our available manpower today as well as our available materials—steel, copper, aluminum, wool, cotton, leather etc.Belt-tightening Must Start at the Grassroots—People howl about extravagance in Washington, and they have good reason to howl, but there is also extravagance at the grassroots. Our federal budget is unbalanced, but so are the majority of family budgets in America.Consumer debt, the amount owed retailers by customers, soared last year to an all-time high—$20 billion. These retail promises to pay have the same inflationary effect upon our economy as $20 billion of new printing press money issued by the government. If inflation is to be licked we must all adopt a pay as we go budget, we must balance our family budgets as well as insist upon a balanced federal budget.A "government by the people" cannot be expected to be thrifter than the people who make up that government. There are too many free spenders—free with other people's money—and too few Byrds elected to Congress. The only power on earth that can check or control government spending is the people themselves. To check inflation belt-tightening must begin at the grassroots.THE OESTREICH

"Just Been Thinkin' "

This is the month of lion and lamb, cold and warmth, ice and rain, winter and spring; for this is the month of contradiction. But it is also the month that brings hope to the heart and wisdom to the soul... It is the time of year which reveals to us the miracle of re-birth as icicles on the bough are silently and beautifully replaced by the earliest signs of another Spring... and he who loves the Spring must be grateful now for the part in its coming which is played by the fitful, yet tender

MONTH OF MARCH

March is the month
Of the vanishing snow,
For the drifts disappear
As the warmer winds blow...

March is the month
When the clouds must depart
And give back the blue
To the desolate heart...

March is the month
When the icicles melt
And the lengthening day Is indelibly felt...

For March is the month
That will gradually bring Death to the winter and Birth to the Spring!

Handy Jim's FIX-UP TIPS For Farm and Home

Cabinet Door Easily Built

KNOWING how to construct doors for the home-built storage or kitchen cabinet is a "must" for the amateur craftsman. By following the simple plan shown here, he can produce cabinet doors of the type made by leading manufacturers.

Standard cabinet door widths are 16, 20 and 24 inches. Lengths are 18, 24, 30, 36, 42, 48, 54, 60, 66 and 72 inches. To start this project, the craftsman determines the inside dimensions of the cabinet and adds 5/16 of an inch all around to allow for the door overhang.

He will build the frame of 1/2" by 4" and 1/2" by 6" wood, which should be rabbeted as shown. Next he will cut cross-braces and saw ventilation slots 3/16" square in them and the top and bottom rails (see drawing). He then assembles the parts with waterproof glue and allows them to set.

He then saws the Masonite 1/2" Tempered Presdwood panels to size and glues them into place. He will drive a brad into each corner of the Presdwood to keep the panels from shifting when glued. The panels should be clamped or weighted down until the glue sets.

The craftsman will round the edges with a file or sandpaper and smooth all surfaces with sandpaper. He will finish the surfaces with a prime coat and enamel, or he may use varnish instead. To complete the job, he will mount the doors on the cabinet and fit them with catches and wood or metal knobs.

Under The Cross
Of Malta

Sunday Commander Fred Hentsch, George Belreger and Eino Saarela traveled to Wilmington to attend the 5th District meeting. The only action of any importance was to move the Junior Vice Commander up to Senior Vice Commander and to elect a new Junior Vice Commander. We asked for the June meeting, but from four invitations, Cantigny Post won with greatest approval.

Perhaps all of you comrades have heard that Commander Peterson is hospitalized and in quite serious condition. He has given too much of his time and effort to Wm. Martin Post 725. There is little we can do just now in return, but one of the things we can do and there is still time, is to give him a 100% membership while he still is our Commander. If we cannot get twelve delinquent ones paid up, we should try to get that many rejoined or new members. Let's get busy and get those renewals into the quartermaster's hands before the end of March.

Saturday, March 17 is the day for the big St. Patrick's Day dance. We will be without the services of our commander, but if everyone comes out and tries to do his part, this dance will go along smoothly and it will be a big success. Let's show our commander that we can do it. It's up to you and you and each member to get out and work.

Don't forget the meeting Thursday, March 22. Election of officers will be the main topic in the order of business. Lend your support to the man you wish to elect then continue to support him through the year.—Eino Saarela, publicity.

After the meeting closed at 8:45 basketball and volleyball were played.

Spring Creek Soil Savers Met March 8

What was considered to be the most spirited and successful meeting in the history of the group was held by the Spring Creek Soil Conservation group members last Thursday afternoon at the Robert Burch tenant house in Homer town ship.

Water needs for different crops and ways of conserving it was discussed by Art Kelley, farm planner, and Charles Fletcher, conservation aide, for the Will County Soil Conservation district.

The group members were shown a chart with planned and established conservation practices for the individual farms as well as for the total practices for the 10 farms in the Spring Creek group.

Experience stories were told by the farmers. Kelley strongly urged the group members to get their planned crop rotations established saying, "these rotations contain the minimum amount of legumes and grasses to conserve the soil and if you want to increase the percentage of grasses and legumes, it would be satisfactory, but to decrease the meadow crop percentage would only mean continued misuse of the soil."

The Farm Planner further pointed out that local farmers are realizing from experience that legumes and grasses are so profitable that some are changing to rotations containing a higher percentage of legumes and grasses than are needed to fit the capability of the soil.

In the absence of Frank Loucks, chairman of the Spring Creek Group, Robert Burch called the meeting to order. Those present were: Merritt J. Cagwin, Bruce Anderson, Gus Termunde, Arthur Strohmman, Mike Roberts, Robert Burch and Jacob Knupp.

Hiline Biddy Lays Record Size Egg

Johnny Marcoux, 11, who lives on the former Shaw place south of Mokena, is raising Hiline chickens and his flock of 65 hens has been laying all winter.

Last Wednesday he was surprised to find that one of his hens apparently decided to go into competition with geese and other large egg birds, and had laid an egg weighing 9 ounces, an egg about the size of the average goose egg. None of the flock seemed disturbed or weakened by the special output.

STUDY TO SAVE SOIL AND WATER

An informational meeting was held last Thursday evening by a group of neighbors living near the Green Garden Town hall, to acquaint themselves with the functions of the Will County Soil Conservation district, according to Albert Lembke. A member of the board of directors of the conservation district, Harlow Nicholson, and a member of the conservation district staff and soil conservation service, Charles Fletcher, were present and told the group how and why the district was formed, and how it can help farmers with their soil and water conservation problems.

Many elementary and yet basic questions were asked concerning the operations of the district, and when these questions were answered to the satisfaction of the group that the district was here for the farmer's benefit and only for the farmer, they insisted that the next meeting date be set for the beginning of good, sound conservation education.

The next meeting is set for March 19, at which time a tour of a local farm, now practicing conservation farming, will be conducted. The group elected as their chairman, Albert Lembke, and agreed to be known as the Green Garden Center Neighborhood group.

Those present at the meeting were: Mr. Lembke, Henry Knater, Wm. Deist, E. J. Erickson, Wm. Rahm, Wm. C. Bettenhausen, David Dralle, Earl Bettenhausen, Michael Narvid, Ralph Knater, Wm. Stasson, F. A. Knater and Wesley Bettenhausen. Other members of this neighborhood group who were invited to the meeting, but could not attend, were Henry Wieland, Martin Gast, Vincent Shortinger and Alvin Weat.

Hit and Run Driver Damaged Frankfort Car Sunday

Sunday morning as Mr. and Mrs. Lester Christiansen and family were driving away from their home in Frankfort they were the victims of a hit and run Chicago driver.

Mr. A. C. Bauch happened to be driving along at the same time and saw the car hit the Christiansens and took after the offending car and caught the driver on Lincoln highway. He brought him back to Frankfort, called State Police James Raffaut, who arrested him and locked him in the local jail. He was released later in the afternoon when no warrant was sworn out against him. It is alleged that the driver of the Chicago car was intoxicated. No one was injured.

PEACEFUL WAY OF LIFE IS POSSIBLE

EVANSTON, ILL.—Relief from the worries, tension and insecurity which beset the world has been found in seven simple rules by Dr. James Roscoe Miller, president of Northwestern University. The 45-year-old educator, administrator and medical scientist, took time out to relay these rules to the average citizen to wage his personal war on frustration. Northwestern is marking its 100th year as one of the nation's great schools of learning.

Dr. Miller describes the following rules as a high road of courage, common sense, gratitude and faith:

- 1.—Live each day for itself, making the best possible use of it without ruing the past or fearing the future.
- 2.—Build an unshakeable faith in God as early as possible; the earlier in life this is done, the quicker will emerge a contented citizen.
- 3.—Know that security is relative, and that your land is the world's richest in opportunity, in established government and in natural resources.
- 4.—Don't be frightened by inflation, an unavoidable result of high public spending. It will end with a return to peaceful pursuits.
- 5.—Continue to hope and pray for world peace, never conceding for an instant that war is "inevitable."
- 6.—Accept as inevitable, however, the sacrifices entailed in a costly defense program—but, as a good citizen check on how YOUR money is spent.
- 7.—When fear and discontent arise, count your blessings; no other people enjoy the comforts of our Constitution and our high moral heritage.

Harry C. Ballman, smoke regulation engineer for the City of Columbus, Ohio, declares that one way to help clean the air in a community is to educate "every householder, janitor, building manager, and fireman on how to get efficient combustion out of stoves, furnaces and boilers."
